CIVIL ENGINEERING AND PILING CONTRACTORS

Established in 1979 as a general civil engineering and groundworks contractor, BURRAS Ltd has since developed its level of services and now enjoys a reputation as one of the South Coasts most experienced civil engineering and piling contractors.

Contracts typically range in size from small works up to £1.5 million projects and includes ground works, foundation piling, sheet piled wall construction and marine works such as coastal protection schemes and waterfront development projects.

BURRAS Ltd is based in Hampshire and has a track record of delivering projects to programme and within budget. The company operates its own machinery including specialist pile driving equipment and benefits from a directly employed skilled and experienced workforce.

BURRAS prides itself in providing a first class service to clients whatever the size and complexity of project and has the experience and capability to meet your most demanding requirements.

General Civil Engineering

Contracts undertaken include reinforced concrete structures, roadway and drainage projects, earthworks, sheet piled walls, foundation piling, temporary cofferdam structures, car park construction and hard landscape schemes.

Burras Ltd has particular experience of working in difficult ground conditions and if required the Company is able to offer a full design and construct service.

Clients range from small private companies through to commercial organisations, developers and local authorities.

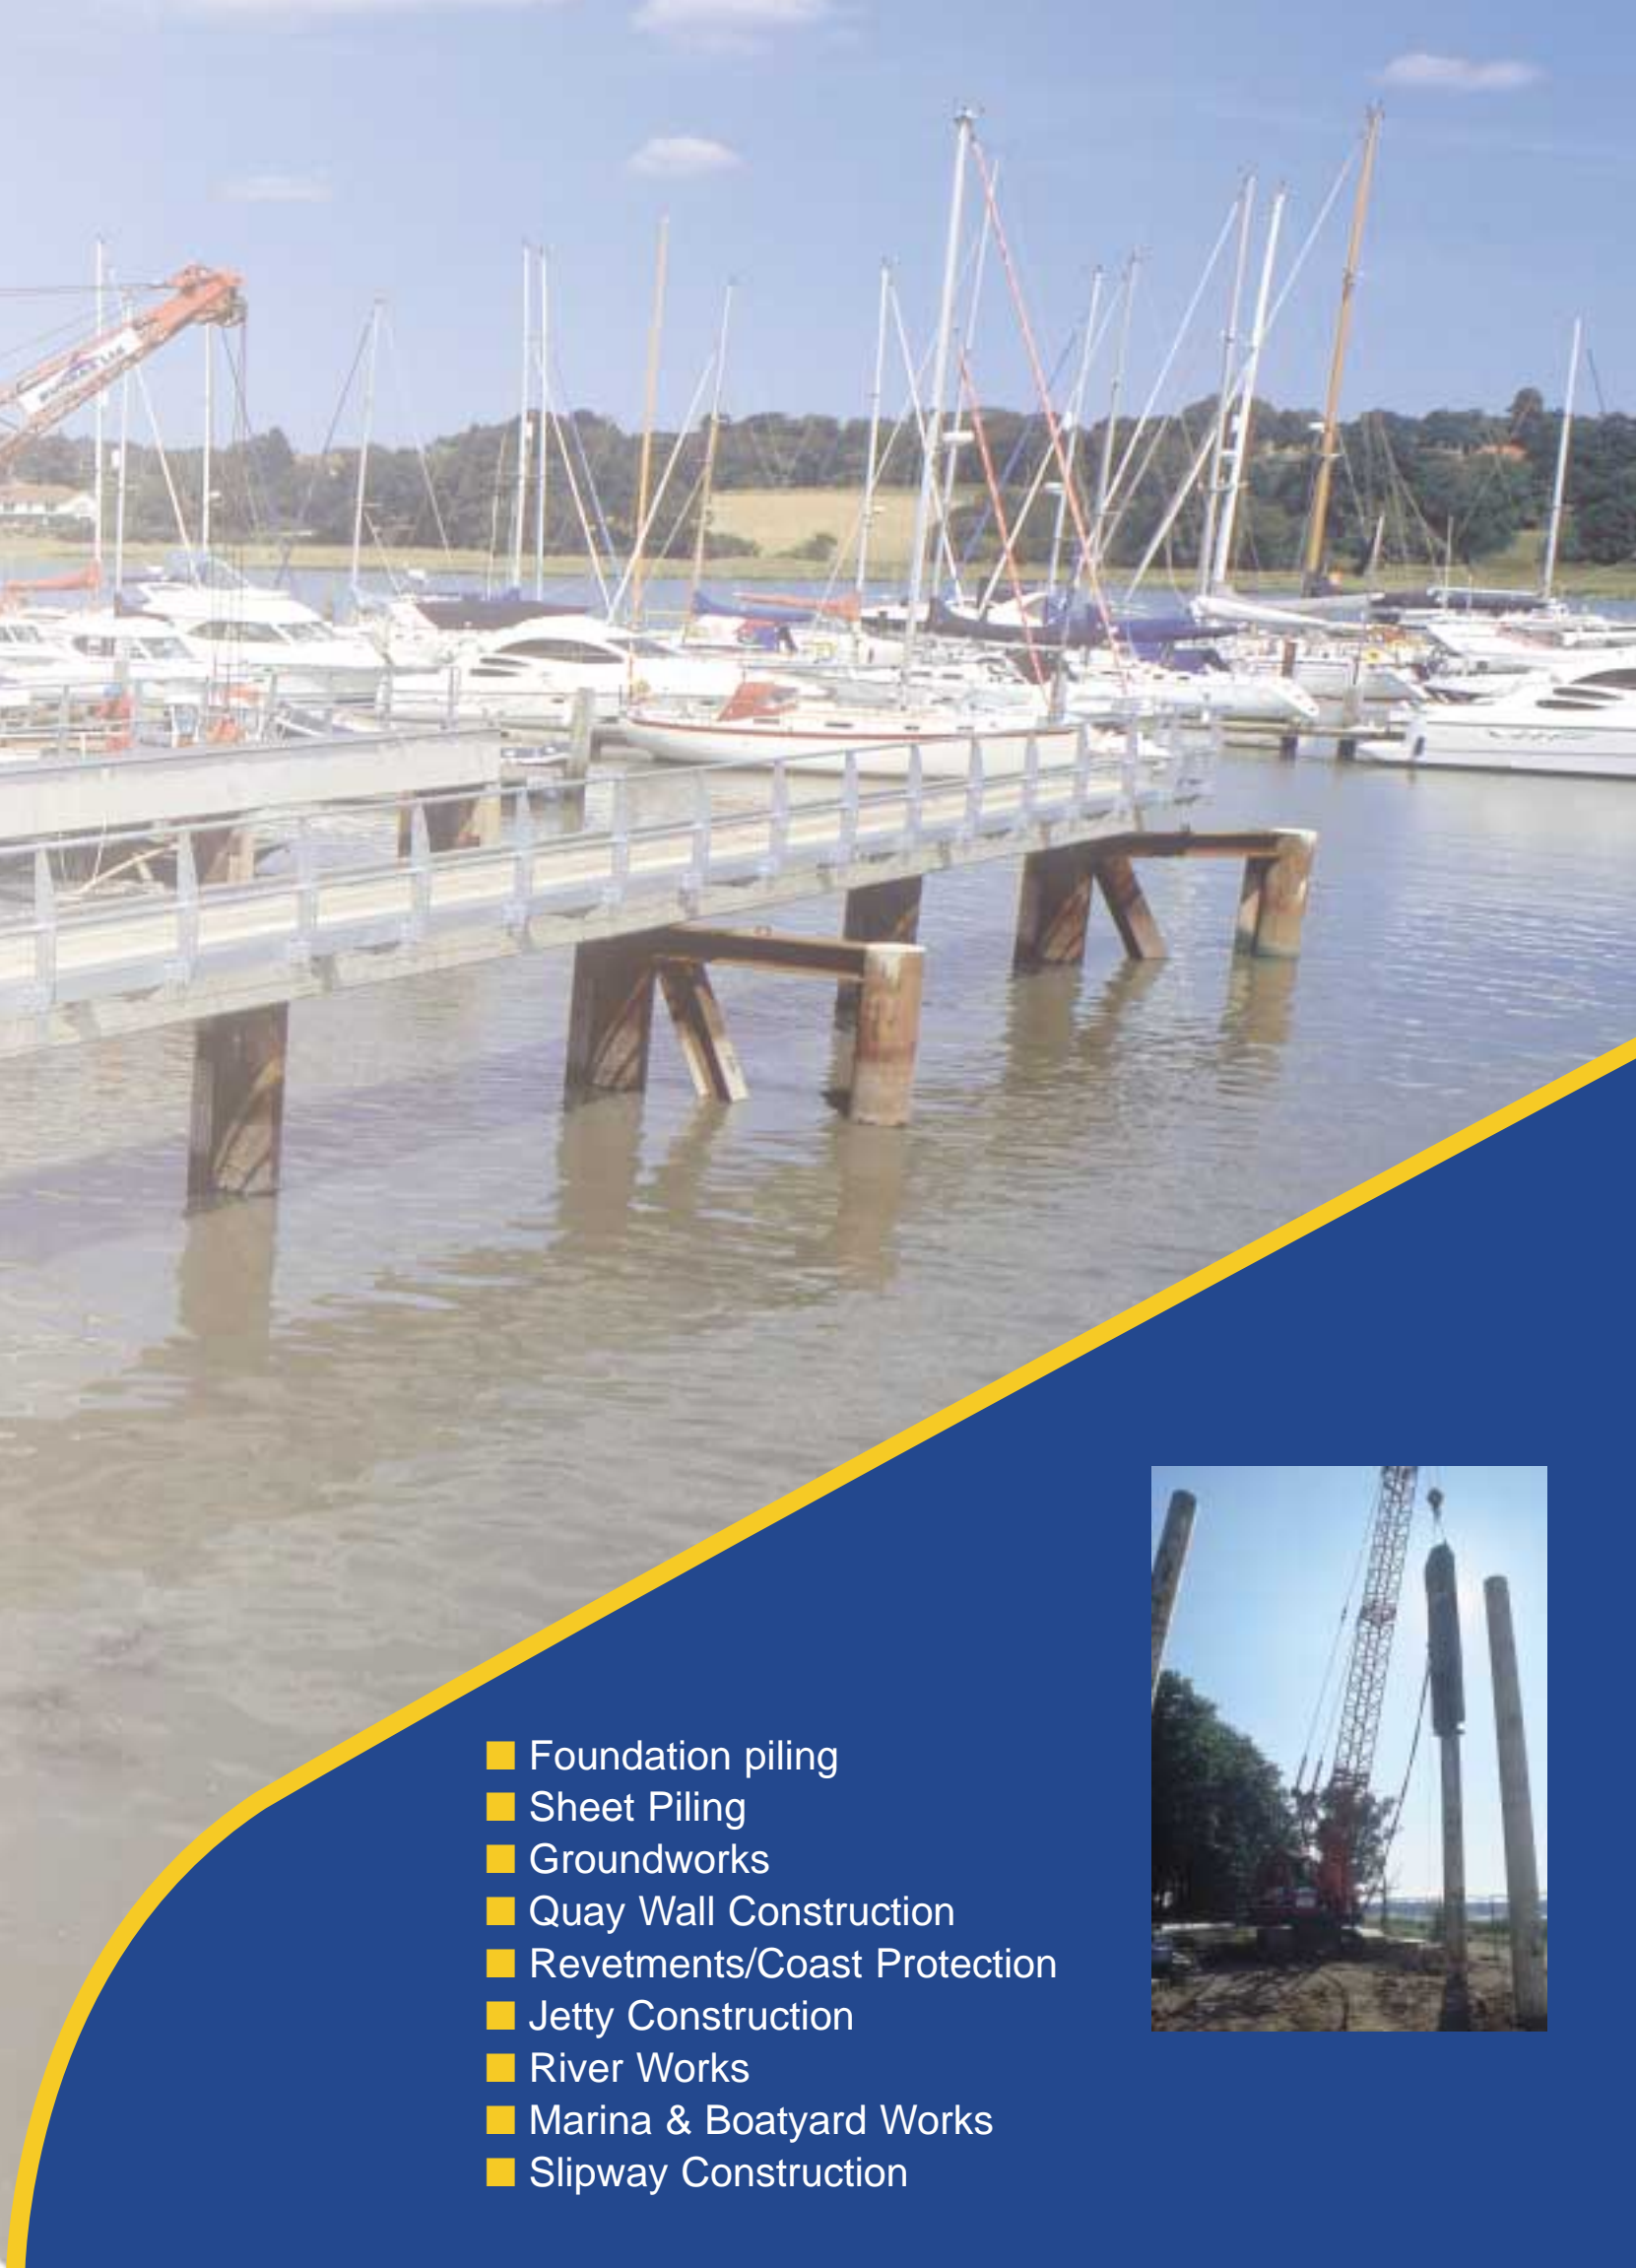

Marine Works

Burras Ltd has developed an expertise in marine related construction projects including jetty and hoist dock structures, quay walls, boatyards, foreshore protection schemes and land reclamation.

The Company is particularly experienced at working in tidal conditions and has been employed by a range of boatyard and marina clients to undertake projects within the foreshore and tidal zones.
